

Welcome 2007

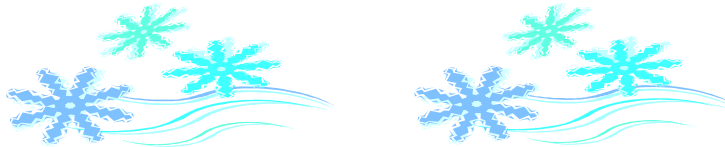

Well, the holidays are just a memory and we are into a new year. The school year is half over and we still have lots to do. January brings out the scientist in all of us with our annual science fair.

Then, in February, we have Enrichment after school every Friday. We could use some more parent volunteers to help keep a well loved activity going. Contact the PTA if you are interested in helping out. We will get you in contact with the Enrichment committee.

Check back often to get more information about other February activities.

If you have changed jobs, started working or just got a new cell number- please let your class parents know so we can update your emergency contact information before we get any snowy weather.

Soon, we will be purchasing a star in Leonardo Grade School's name. We will be trying to think of a name- keep checking, we may be asking for your help!
