March 21st, 2016
Each school and program is a learning community within the larger learning community of Middletown Public Schools.

Each student is a role model for the high character standards expected of Middletown Public Schools.

Each student is expected to act with integrity, honor and respect for every member of the community.

Just as students should take pride in the evidence of their good character, so will the learning community and school take pride in the evidence of good character shown throughout the day.

WHERE DOES MOST BULLYING OCCUR?

- Generally most reports of “bullying or harassment” are from times when the students are NOT under the direct supervision of an adult. During school, these times are: on the playground, using the restrooms, eating snack, and choosing teams for projects.
- Many times the students will have a different affect when dealing with adults. Bullies are usually very perceptive of the expectations of adults. Bullies have a “gift” for manipulating social dynamics.
- This “gift” allows them to operate “under the radar screen” of the adults in the area.
Victims of harassment or bullying will usually start to withdraw from social interaction.

Sometimes there will be signs like whispering, or snickering when they arrive or leave an area.

Sometimes it will be a change in the level of eye contact when conversing, or presenting to classmates.

Sometimes it will be lingering with adults, or making excuses to be near adults when the activity does not involve direct supervision.

Victims begin to isolate themselves as a means of self protection from the group.
This is incredibly difficult to do. Most of the time the aggressors are very aware of adult expectations and can manipulate the emotions of others very effectively. (Tearful denials, emotional breakdowns, all very common and staged to garner sympathy and disbelief that they would bully/harass anyone else)

The trick is to try and create opportunities where the students have no idea you are taking the emotional temperature of the situation. (drive them everywhere and just listen)

Some suggestions: Role play activities where the students can practice appropriate responses; use literature and curriculum to illustrate the character traits expected of Middletown Public Schools.
TIPS FOR RECOGNIZING BULLYING

- Look for signs of students emerging as a class leaders. Bullies try to control rather than lead. We have to teach kids the difference between leading and controlling.
- Be aware of jokes made at the expense of other students. Reinforce empathy and compassion, rather than focusing on failure.

When we investigate Bullying/Harassment, we:

- Always interview the children separately! This is crucial. If you interview them together, the bully now gets to intimidate in front of an adult.
- The Bully/aggressor will intimidate the victim into denying any issue exists.
- Find upstanding witnesses and interview them. Usually there are students who will accurately report what they saw.
- Truly promote the role of the Bystander being the most courageous person, who stands up for what is right, even when it is not popular.
CYBER BULLYING

- Cyber bullying is using the internet and other technology to bully students.
- Email, instant messaging, on-line diaries, picture cell phones, web logs or blogs make it easier and quicker for students to make threats, pass on rumors or ostracize their peers.
- Cyber bullying is no different than bullying in person - students who are victims still suffer from the same risks as those being bullied in person.
- PLEASE monitor every device. This protects both you and your child.
PLEASE REMIND YOUR CHILD THAT:

- Everything you say, post, and do is under intense scrutiny.
- With today’s electronics you can be captured on film and it can be posted and go viral without your knowledge or consent.
- You have the choice every minute of every day to “Do the Right Thing” and live up to Middletown Public Schools standards of good character.
- Your younger friends will emulate your behavior.
- If you do not quickly address harassment, hazing or bullying, you have sent the message that it is acceptable behavior.
Not being respectful of cultural differences
Use of Nicknames that memorialize failure
Nicknames that mock, or ridicule body features
Teasing
Being “mean spirited”
Exclusion of one or more children by the group
Modeling inappropriate reactions to mistakes
Profanity
WHAT TO DO IF YOU FEEL BOTHERED...
(A DISCUSSION TO HAVE WITH YOUR CHILD...)

- When we talk about teasing, conflict, just being “mean spirited” or even bullying, we are very serious that this type of behavior will not be tolerated at Middletown Public Schools.

If someone is making you uncomfortable, we want to know.

It is not “snitching” or “tattling” if you protect someone from being hurt.

Bullies rely on the witnesses/bystanders doing nothing.

Bullies get their power from bystanders and victims who do not stand up and say ”This is unacceptable. Stop it.”

It takes a great deal of courage to stand up to someone who is trying to make another person feel bad.

We want you to be a hero! We want you to break the cycle by saying “We do not act this way.”
The Middletown Public Schools are committed to providing a safe learning environment for every student.

Throughout your day you come in contact with many people. If someone is not being nice, or is bothering other people, we want you to tell an adult, and you can even tell your parents. Every adult who works with you is committed to making you feel safe.

Bullies win when the rest of us do nothing.
