

PBL Long Term Photo I Project:

You are the curator (<http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/curator?s=t>) of a digital gallery of photographs.

- You will set up your gallery using the “Google Presentation” app.
 - Use your school log-in information to sign into Google Docs.
 - Create a new presentation.
- Decide on a name for your gallery and put the gallery name and your name on the first slide.
 - On your this title slide add a disclaimer text box that says, “This gallery has been created as a personal exploration project for a photography class and will be used for educational purposes only. It will not be placed on public display in any form.”
- Add a new, different master of the art of photography each week of the marking period.
 - You must select your “master” from among photographers whose work has been exhibited in well-recognized museums. See the bottom of this page for examples of sites that may be helpful/
 - By the last week of the marking period your gallery must feature a minimum of ten masters.
- Your gallery must have an introduction slide for each master that presents information about the photographer and the nature of his or her work (i.e. Include biographical facts about the person. What makes that person’s work special? Why did you choose to include that person in your gallery?) Use a font size between 20- 40 points to type that information. Note: If you choose to include a photographer whose work might be considered controversial (<http://oxforddictionaries.com/definition/english/controversy?q=controversy>), you must explain what makes that person’s work an important contribution to the art world. (Discuss such things as how the person uses lighting or the elements and principles of composition or how the subject matter communicates an important universal theme.)
- After the introduction slide, add ten new slides. Paste different pictures by the master photographer on each of the ten new slides.
- For every slide in your presentation (except the gallery name slide) add a small text box to the bottom of the slide that cites the original URL / source of that information or image. Use a font size of 12 for that information.
